No, you are not authorized. We will obtain a letter but I would encourage you to share our letter with your supervisors. Any fair reading of our letter reveals that our client is profoundly sick and not capable of participating in a multi hour testimony session.

Best, Joe.

Dear Joe,

Thank you for the letter. During our last call, we noted that our supervisors had directed us to request a letter from Mr. Fauth's doctors explaining why his medical conditions preclude him from being able to testify for 2-3 hours from his home. Are we authorized to contact the doctors named in your letter to request the information we are seeking?

Thank you,
Tejal
